This program costs your company nothing, except a small space for serving equipment. We take care of all the logistics, and bring the food on time. The employees pay for the meal.

The success of this program can create more revenue for your company by keeping employees at the workplace for lunch breaks. Although the employees make their own decision regarding where to buy lunch, you can promote the new service to foster our mutual success.

We would like to offer you a sample of our excellent food for your company executives. Please call us to schedule the best time for you! This lunch will be on us!
